CARR-312 Edwin G. Gilbert House
3435 Uniontown Road

3435 Uniontown Road appears to have been built between 1853 and 1862 by John Gore. Gore purchased the property for $147 in 1853. The land records indicate that Gore sold the property for $500 in 1866 to Edwin G. Gilbert, a farmer and huckster who became an influential citizen of Uniontown. However, the 1862 Martenet's Map lists the property as Gilbert's residence. The house remained in the Gilbert family's ownership through 1959. From the exterior, the house appears to contain an original three-bay structure with a two-bay addition on the west end as indicated by the spacing of the windows on the main facade. Most of the original exterior details of the structure were destroyed by later remodelings or are covered by the modern siding. An interesting wood ornamental motif is located above the transom of the entrance. The full-length porch is a popular late nineteenth century design of simple wood columns.
